COMMISSION REJECTS REZONING Marines Plan Boot Training Shakeup

Proposal Now
Will Be Placed
Before Council

Fatal March Inquiry Back Of Changes

Drill Sergeant Faces
Trial; Camp General
Loses His Command

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Marine Corps said today it was taking three major steps as the result of the deaths of six recruits who drowned while on a night march.

Drill Sgt. Matthew McKeown has been recommended for court-martial. The Marine announcement said he was under influence of liquor during the fatal march. McKeown's command has been relieved of his command and the corps plans a sweeping reorganization of "boot" (recruit) training.

Gen. Randolph Pate, corps commandant, announced that Maj. Gen. J. C. Burger has been ordered transferred from the command of Parris Island, S. C., where the tragedy occurred.

Pate's recommendations were made public when he appeared before the House Armed Services Committee to report on a corps investigation of the April 8 incident, the actions he has taken and the measures he has proposed to the secretary of the Navy.

The decision on convening a general court-martial to try McKeown is up to the secretary, Charles S. Thomas.

The general's testimony may determine whether Congress launches its own full scale inquiry into the night march into a South Carolina swamp to "teach the men discipline."

IN ADVANCE of the hearing the results of the Marines' own study, the findings as to McKeown who ordered the 78 men on the night march, and the measures to be taken against a recurrence, were closely guarded secrets.

Pate said that over the years the system of stern discipline and tough training of recruits, administered by experienced non-commissioned officers, had proved good for the Marines.

But he added that "some practices have crept in which do not comport with the dignity of the individual."

Therefore, Pate said, he is putting in a new system of supervision both at Parris Island and the other Marine recruit training center, San Diego, Calif. He said he will oversee this new system himself through a chain of officers reporting directly to him.

This direct supervision, he said, will continue until it's certain that "any and every practice which may have arisen at Parris Island or San Diego which involved or suggests hazarding, mass punishment or any other form of treatment incompatible with accepted American standards of human dignity has been absolutely eliminated."

Pate reported that the Marine court of inquiry, which is a fact-finding but not a trial body, found that McKeown, on the day of the fatal march, has been drinking.

Pate said the charges against McKeown are manslaughter, oppression of recruits "by leading them to Ribbon Creek," drinking intoxicating liquor in the presence of a recruit and violation of general orders prohibiting possession of alcoholic beverages.

A number of the survivors praised McKeown's actions after the men found themselves in trouble, crediting him with saving lives and being "the last man out" of the deep water.

The Marine Corps said today McKeown told his platoon of recruits before the fatal march that "those who couldn't swim would drown" and then added that "those who could swim would be eaten by sharks."

Alben Barkley

Nation Mourns Passing Of Colorful 'Veep'

Sen. Barkley Dies
While Delivering
Address To Students

WASHINGTON (AP)—The "Veep" made his final trip to the nation's capital today. And the nation mourned.

For the "Veep," Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, was dead. He collapsed and died on the speaker's platform at a university political gathering in Lexington, Va., yesterday.

Today four students from Washington and Lee University and four from Virginia Military Institute accompanied the body as it was brought here from Lexington.

Barkley, 78, slumped to the floor after a keynote address to Washington and Lee students assembled in a mock Democratic National Convention. Dr. Robert Munger, who arrived seven minutes later as ambulance attendants were attempting to administer oxygen, said he died of a heart attack.

In accord with Barkley's wishes, a funeral service will be held tomorrow morning in Foundry Methodist Church here conducted by Dr. Frederick Brown Harris, chaplain of the Senate. Burial will be Friday in Barkley's hometown of Paducah, Ky.

BARKLEY, who described himself as "an old firehorse who has heard the bell," told the W&L students he had been uncertain about going to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago in August, but had made up his mind to attend. He said he wouldn't be a candidate for nomination for the presidency.

There were cries of "No, no," and when he had quieted the tumult he said:

"I have been in years gone by, but all fire apparatus is automotive now and not horse-drawn."

Reminiscently, he recalled he'd been a delegate-at-large to every Democratic National Convention since 1920; a junior, then a senior member of Congress; a junior senator; a senior senator; majority Senate leader; vice president; then junior senator again.

"I am willing to be a junior," he said, "I am glad to sit in the back row, for I would rather be a servant in the house of the Lord than to sit in the seats of the mighty."

Then he collapsed. Two students on the platform tried to bring him (Continued on Page Two)

U. S. Tells Reds Quit Coercion

Poland Gets Note Calling Halt
To Needling Refugees Living Here

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has told the Communists it won't tolerate pressure on Iron Curtain refugees to give up sanctuary in this country.

The State Department handed Red Poland's Ambassador Romuald Spasowski a note yesterday accusing him and other Polish officials of abusing their diplomatic status.

It said they were trying to pressure Polish refugees in this country into returning behind the Iron Curtain. The note demanded: Stop it at once.

Spasowski indicated Poland would make a formal reply. He said that in the case of three Polish seamen who gave up U. S. sanctuary and went home last fall, the seamen approached the embassy first.

The U. S. note declared Polish diplomats had made "unsolicited personal visits" as part of a campaign to coerce Polish nationals out of their U. S. asylum.

Nuclear Arms Test Costs: $100 Million

HONOLULU (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission and Defense Department calculate the cost of a series of big scale nuclear weapons tests, like that beginning at the Central Pacific proving grounds, at $100 million.

The two agencies say that costs of Pacific tests are high compared with those held in Nevada.

Material made available today by officials of Operation Redwing said that it has been estimated a "series such as Castle will exceed $100 million in direct costs."

Operation Castle was the 1954 spring series in the Pacific. That series included detonation of the biggest hydrogen bomb ever exploded. The AEC says officially that three detonations were made in Operation Castle. Other sources have suggested at least five detonations occurred in the 1954 series. Redwing may involve more than 10 shots, some of them small, however.

The direct costs mentioned in the AEC-Defense Department information undoubtedly include the price for the weapons themselves.

The summary made no reference to air bursts in previous hydrogen weapon tests, indicating the explosion of a hydrogen bomb to be dropped from a plane this month will be the first time the United States actually has used the air-delivery method for a "live" weapon.

Preachers Gripe About Jobs, Too

CHICAGO (AP)—Clergymen have some gripes about their job.

Nowadays, they say, irksome details are keeping them from devoting as much time as they feel necessary to preaching.

Some of their complaints were told to a meeting of the National Council of Churches' Department of the Urban Church today by Dr. Samuel W. Blizard, a Pennsylvania State University sociologist who conducted a nationwide survey of what Protestant ministers think of their occupation.

Chief complaints are "paper work," "running the mimeograph machine," "attending too many purposeless meetings," and "dealing with demanding people," Dr. Blizard said.

A large number said they are urged to spend much time organizing and administering, but have little training or liking for these functions.

"Today's minister considers that he was trained to be a

But it rejected as undemocratic and beyond accepted diplomatic practice any coercive practice to make aliens quit the United States. It listed among such techniques the use of letters from relatives back home. And it told Poland to "cease immediately the objectionable practice of unsolicited personal visits" in furtherance of the Polish government's repatriation campaign.

Just last week this country expelled two Russians attached to the Soviet Union's United Nations delegation on the ground that they had exceeded their authority in helping five Soviet seamen to return home.

The Senate Internal Security subcommittee, which has been inquiring into the case of those five as well as four others who remain in this country, heard one of the four yesterday.

He was Viktor Solovoyev, who previously had testified publicly but who returned to tell of incidents he said had slipped his mind then.

A transcript of his testimony quoted him as saying two Soviet agents threatened him April 5 in a locked New York hotel room. He said he tricked them into leaving.

"I think it would be good that the Soviet officials would be restricted in their activities so that they would not do whatever they want in this country," Solovoyev was quoted. "They are given no full freedom to act as they want and they are using this freedom to the full extent now."

It was learned, meanwhile, that immigration officials have received new orders from Commissioner Joseph Swing to keep a watchful eye on Iron Curtain refugees to protect them from any attempts to coerce them into going back home.

Angry Boy, 13, Shoots Couple

MILFORD, Pa. (AP)—A 13-year-old boy who "got a little mad" when a man and his wife scolded him for target shooting near their home yesterday turned his rifle on them, fatally wounding the husband and critically wounding the wife.

State Trooper Evan R. Chaplin said James Van Why readily admitted the shooting after his capture in a field where he fled after wrecking the couple's car.

Edward W. Ebele, 48, died of head wounds. His wife Margaret, 45, is in critical condition in a hospital. She was also shot in the head.

Most Of World Toasts May Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Moscow limited its May Day military parade to 42 minutes today.

Pope Pius XII urged "the whole world of labor to return to Christ, an obvious plea to Communist workers, was made before 90,000 worker members of Italian Catholic Action at St. Peter's and was directed especially to 60,000 more gathered in Milan.

Hundreds of Communist-directed mass meetings were under way elsewhere in Italy, whose Communist party is the largest outside the Iron Curtain.

Apparently demonstrating its new professed policy of peace, the Soviet Union staged one of the least warlike May Day military parades Western observers had seen in Moscow.

No new military equipment was placed on view.

Nor were there any new planes. Only 59 swept-wing jet fighters, improved models of the MIG-17s seen here before, made the traditional fly-past.

Moscow radio, heard in London, said "new type" Mikoyan jet fighters participated in the flypast but gave no other details.

The annual May Day speech, by Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov, also was notable for its lack of bellicose phrases.

"OUR PEOPLE want to live in peace and friendship with the peoples of all the world," he declared. "We are striving for trust and goodwill among governments. The workers of all the world are fighting for peace, democracy and independence."

Holiday decorations failed to display any pictures of the late Joseph Stalin in the spots they used to dominate.

There were some large portraits of Lenin in prominent places, but the most common decorations were pictures of the 11-man Presidium, featuring Premier Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev. This is in line with the new Communist emphasis on collective leadership.

The Kremlin chiefs watched the parade of military might through Moscow's Red Square, followed by the annual march of thousands of athletes and civilians.

'Shopping Center' Had Small Edge In Owner Voting

In a tension-packed meeting that lasted hardly 30 minutes, the Circleville Planning and Zoning Commission voted last night against a rezoning proposal that would clear the way for a shopping center on the north side of Hargus Creek.

The commission, with one of its members absent, voted unanimously to recommend that city council turn down the rezoning request. Council had turned the matter over to the commission, and that group plans to return it to council at its regular meeting tonight.

A 30-day period to permit advertising of the request will have to pass before the lawmakers begin their own study of the plea, now in ordinance form. It will be up to council to make the final decision.

The commission, led by Chairman Ludwig Haacker, based its adverse decision on a special poll conducted by mail among the affected property owners. The area involved, covering about 10 acres, is immediately north of Hargus Creek and between Court and Pickaway streets.

HAACKER announced the results of the property owner balloting before the members of the commission were polled at last night's meeting.

The commission recommended against approval of the rezoning effort despite the fact that the property owner poll showed a narrow margin "in favor." Of 72 ballots returned out of 77 distributed by registered mail, 34 were cast in favor of the proposed zoning change. Thirty-one were opposed, and seven property owners cast "neutral" ballots.

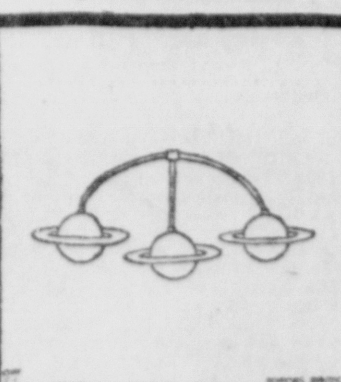

Haacker had warned in advance of the meeting that the commission did not intend to regard the decision merely as a "voting contest." The property owner poll, he said, was intended only to help the planning body form an overall opinion.

In explaining why the issue could not be settled "vote by vote," Haacker pointed to the fact that sizes of the affected properties vary widely. Some are closer than others to the site of the proposed shopping center, he also emphasized.

The commission, in effect, thus ruled that, in its opinion, such factors totaled up against the rezoning plea, although it had a 3-vote margin in the actual balloting.

Attention was also drawn to the seven "neutral" ballots cast. The ballot mailed to the property owner (Continued on Page Two)

"PAWN SHOP SIGN ON SATURN"

This Droodle is dedicated to Prof. Fritz Zitt, the expert on Space Travel who sometimes lectures at our P.S.S.T. (Flying Saucer Spotters of Terra) Meetings. Last week he offered to let us go along on an expedition to the Moon that he's planning and told us to be sure and bring along the following equipment: 1. Extra suit of long underwear (pressurized) 2. Plenty of sandwiches 3. Postcards 4. Bottle of liniment (the takeoff will be rough) 5. Bandages (the landing will even be rougher) 6. A 1957 Calendar (he figures the trip will take that long). Prof. Zitt said that, unfortunately, he will be too busy to go along personally and, come to think of it, so will I. I hope.

fall. The 1,700 people in Doremus gymnasium sat dumbfounded.

His death brought expressions of grief from President Eisenhower and members of both parties.

Eisenhower said "the nation is poorer" for his death: "As vice president of the United States, member of Congress and senator from Kentucky, Mr. Barkley had a long and distinguished record of public service for the people of his state and country."

VICE PRESIDENT Nixon said Barkley "was loved and respected by those who were privileged to know him, regardless of their partisan affiliations. He was, and always will remain in the hearts of the American people, the one and only Veep."

Former President Harry Truman was informed of his Veep's death just as he finished riding in a parade in Truman's honor in Huron, S. D.

Truman told an audience of about 2,500 people: "He was one of the greatest vice presidents that ever occupied that chair."

"The reason was that he knew all of the senators, all of the members of the House and all of their wives and friends — their shortcomings and their qualities."

"Mr. Barkley always said what he thought."

"I am sorry as I can be that the end has come to a great man."

He said Barkley died doing the people a service. "That's the way I hope I can go," Truman added.

Proposal Now Will Be Placed Before Council

THE COMMISSION also broke down the property owner voting to individual parcels of property. Each property owner, it was explained, was mailed only one ballot to cast—but in a number of cases, the one individual owns several parcels of property, with or without houses.

In the voting according to property parcels, it was shown that 90 separate pieces were covered in the balloting. And the results based upon these was as follows:

In favor of the rezoning plea, 40 pieces of property; opposed, 41; "neutral", 9.

Haacker said the absent member of the planning body, Ward Skinner, had indicated a "neutral" stand on the controversial issue. Other members of the commission, in addition to the chairman, are:

Mayor Bob Hedges, City Service Director Dewey Speakman, Dr. Lloyd Sproule, Bill Cook, and Commission Secretary Milton Patterson.

All members of the commission replied "no" when called to give their stand on the pending ordinance. About 30 spectators were present at the meeting in city council chambers, but no effort was made to renew arguments on the question.

A RESTLESS stir ran through the audience when the commission's vote was announced, but the chairman, after a brief pause, asked for a motion for adjournment.

Among the spectators were at least three members of council: Richard Penn, Harold Clifton and Dudley Carpenter. The lawmakers have been anxiously watching the commission reach its decision, but without public comment.

It was unlikely that the measure will be discussed at any length when council meets tonight. After being advertised for the 30-day interval, the measure will then come up for first reading. That will probably be at council's meeting on June.

Comments added by the various property owners when they returned their ballots were kept confidential, in line with a guarantee issued by Haacker.

The planning chief said the 77 ballots mailed out were sent by registered mail, with receipt to assure delivery. Of the five that were not returned, Haacker said three had been sent to property owners on Water St. and the remaining two to property owners on Pleasant St.

One of the five, Haacker explained had to be mailed to Texas "and probably will not be returned." And another was sent to a person, "known to be neutral," who did not intend to return the ballot.

That leaves three ballots unaccounted for, Haacker noted.

HAACKER did not specifically detail how the commission reached its decision, except on the basis of the balloting results and the warning that a number of factors had to be considered in addition to the votes cast.

After the close of last night's meeting, however, he recalled that a rezoning plea aimed at the same section of the city was rejected unanimously by the planning body late last year.

April Showers Fail To Hold Soggy Margin

April's showers in this area failed to live up to some of their promises, but they were still dripping enough to give Circleville nearly an inch above normal in rainfall.

With no rainfall recorded for the Circleville district during the 24 hour period ending at 8 a. m. today, April closed the books with an accumulation of 4.38 inches. Normal for this area in April is only 3.32 inches, thus giving a "wet" margin of .86 inch for the month.

Only a few days before the end of the month, April was showing a much more substantial edge over the normal precipitation. On April 25, after a downpour of .90 inch overnight, the district's precipitation was 1.21 inch ahead of the expected.

However, the last five days of April netted only a total of .20 inch.

CIRCLEVILLE'S rainfall continues well ahead of the normal up to this time of year. Normal accumulation since January 1 is 13.23 inches. The actual rainfall, however, totals 16.46 inches.

To permit a more accurate reading during May, The Herald's rainfall "score" will be suspended until the first of next week.

World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press
News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Alben W. Barkley — a man of humor, balance and kindness — was one of those politicians who is widely beloved in his lifetime by his political friends and foes alike.

But when he said — it was the last thing he said — that he was content to accept a "seat in the back row" of political life, he was expressing a thought that had come to him late in life. He was accepting a reality forced upon him by his age—78.

He had wanted more than a back seat. He had been one of the great public servants of his time. He had been in Congress almost continuously since 1913. And he had a dream. Perhaps he alone knows how long he had it.

He wanted the presidency. But when at last he reached out, it eluded him.

Monday, reviewing his career in an address at a student's mock Democratic convention at Washington and Lee University, he referred good-naturedly to the fact that he was the junior senator from Kentucky.

He had been senior senator for years but lost seniority when he gave up his Senate seat to be vice president from 1949 to 1953. When re-elected senator in 1954, he became junior to Kentucky's Sen. Earl C. Clements, who was elected in 1950.

Then—just before he dropped dead—Barkley said: "I am willing to be a junior. I am glad to sit on the back row, for I had rather be a servant in the House of the Lord than to sit in the seats of the mighty."

That was how he felt Monday. But less than four years ago, at the 1952 Democratic convention in Chicago, he hoped briefly his party might nominate him for the presidency.

He was disillusioned fast. On the convention's opening day, organized labor leaders whom he had generally supported all through the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, refused to consider him. Too old, they said.

He was 74 then, and he felt fine, as he did most of his life. He was a vigorous man who had remarried at 71, a politician in the classic tradition: arm-waving, roaring and witty. Not long ago he said he had never had a headache in his life.

He was reportedly deeply hurt when the union leaders rejected him. If he had refused to face it within himself, he had to face it now; even his friends thought he was too old for the presidency.

But out of his disappointment, no matter how bitter, he rose to what became perhaps the high point of his life.

Two days later, in the summer-boiling convention hall where the Democratic party had been almost torn apart in angry, factional dispute, Barkley went before the delegates with a rousing speech for unity.

The ovation when he finished may have been one of the longest in convention history. As he finished, standing alone, white-haired in the blinding spotlights, the jam-packed delegates leaped to their feet and cheered.

They were cheering more than just a man who had made a good political talk. They were trying to tell him, it seemed, that they loved and cherished him for his long and faithful service to his country and his party.

It was as if they were trying to

Widowed Mother Given $123,000

CLEVELAND (AP)—A federal jury has awarded $123,000 to a 36-year-old mother of eight, whose husband was killed in an industrial accident.

The verdict against the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. was the largest in Cleveland Federal Court history.

The award went to Mrs. Beatrice Perkins of Ceylon Junction, Erie County. Her husband, James Jr., 33, was killed by an overhead crane while working in the J&L plant in Cleveland on April 29, 1952. He was a structural steel worker for the Mack Construction Co. of Cleveland.

Man Figured He Belonged In Jail

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—William J. Murray walked up to the police information desk and asked if he belonged in jail.

Clerk Sam Routsong checked the books. He said Murray certainly did. That's what he thought too, Murray said, but he woke up on the street.

A missing cell bar supplied the clue to Murray's exit. Accommodations were provided for him again on a drunk charge.

3 Boys Confess School 'Spite' Fire

COLUMBUS (AP)—Police today were holding three 16-year-old Columbus boys who, they say, admit setting fire to the Franklin Junior High School last April 17. Four firemen were injured in the $15,000 blaze.

Patrolman James Roenker of the Juvenile Bureau said the boys told him they started the fire because one of them wanted to "get even" with school officials for disciplinary action against him.

wash away in the sea of their applause whatever hurt he may have felt at being rejected when he had reached out for the highest office the voters could give.

And he knew, if any man did, the significance of that almost endless applause. As it turned out, he was never to hear its like again.

He looked into the blinding lights, he waved, he seemed happy to bursting as he stood on the platform alone. All the other politicians, as if realizing that this hour belonged to Barkley alone, stayed away.

He was so happy, so unable to know what to do with himself in this moment of joy, that he wandered around, reaching over the railing, and shaking hands with newspapermen he didn't know. It was the closest he could come to shaking hands with himself.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: In 1940 I endorsed a promissory note for my brother-in-law (my sister's husband) for two hundred dollars. After he had made one small payment to the holder of the note, he went overseas. When subsequent payments were due, I delayed, and the matter went to a lawyer.

I was put to a lot of trouble, and in fact almost lost my job because of it. Finally I paid the full amount, plus the lawyer and other costs. And every cent counted with me in those days, as I had six children to rear. Matt came back in 1945. Nothing was said about the money and we became friends as before.

In 1950, Matt and his wife and child returned here from an Army post out west, and stayed three weeks with us, not paying a cent. Matt told me he was expecting money from the Army, for travel and maintenance, and I would be well repaid. He also said he had a thousand dollars in the bank out there, and was having it transferred here. I advanced him fifty dollars cash, and he gave me a check to cover. I still have the check.

I finally learned that he was out of the Army and had no money. I got mad and told Matt to get out and take his family; and I also told his wife what I thought of him and her (after paying a grocer's bill for his three dozen bottles of beer). I haven't seen them since.

They are friendly with my children, all married now; and I don't object to that. However, my wife and children say I should forget the past—but after all! What sticks in mind is the way he lied to me. Should I pardon him (in my heart

I do) and be friendly as before? G. L.

DEAR G. L.: Bearing a grudge is hard on one's health and, therefore, as a favor to yourself if not to Matt, you ought to forget his financial flightiness at your expense.

Obviously you are by nature a friendly open-handed fellow; and that's why you were so vulnerable to his chiseling tactics earlier. In hesitating so long to make up with Matt (when in your heart you have no hard feelings against him), you've probably been influenced by unconscious fear that if you once more give him an inch of tolerance, again he will try to obtain unlimited credit. And you aren't sure you can flatly resist his extremely touching salesmanship.

Well, my advice is to forgive the past, but learn from it. Bear in mind that Matt can't fleece you if you won't let him. Be friends with him, as a kindness to all concerned; but decide now, once and finally, that you aren't going to get involved in money deals with him hereafter. No matter what his story, you aren't interested, period.

M. H. Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Worry of FALSE TEETH Slipping or Irritating?

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Research now has the answer to carpet and upholstery cleaning with the new product, Blue Lustre. It is completely safe for your finest carpets whether woolen, nylon, rayon or cotton. The nap is left open and fluffy as colors return to their original beauty and lustre. No residue remains to cause rapid resoiling. Ashville, Scioto Will Represent
County In District Class B Play

Ashville and Scioto will represent Pickaway County in the District Class B baseball tournament scheduled to start Thursday. Drawings are set for tonight in Columbus.

The Broncos shut out Pickaway by the lopsided score of 17 to 0. Dick Miller, who shows great promise of being another one in a long list of fine all-around Ashville athletes, tossed a no-hitter against the Pirates.

The game was called at the end of five innings because Ashville got more than 10 runs ahead. Scioto's Buffaloes edged out a stubborn Jackson nine 3 to 2. The Buffaloes' Del Neff pitched another brilliant game, striking out 17 Wildcats and allowing only one hit.

BECAUSE RAIN cancelled play last week, there is no time left to play off for the championship.

Cardinals Find Way To Trip Southpaw Jinx

5 Left-handers Start Against Birds, None Has Scored Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Here's some free advice to National League managers:

1. Cease sending southpaws to the mound against the St. Louis Cardinals.

In first place today as the season's first intersectional struggles got under way, the Cards owed their success to their new-found ability to fathom the southpaw jinx.

In nine games, opposing managers have started five southpaws against Fred Hutchinson's predominantly left-handed hitting lineup. Only one — Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall on opening day — has been able to go the route against them. Not one of them has been able to beat them.

Milwaukee's Warren Spahn, one of the league's better left-handers, has failed to finish in two starts against St. Louis. So has Cincinnati's Pat Scantlebury. Spahn was the victim Monday night as the Cardinals shut out the Braves 2-0 in the day's only activity to take over first place by 31 percentage points over the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Braves dropped out of the top spot into third place, a game behind the leaders.

St. Louis' record against left-handers this season is four victories and one defeat. The only southpaw to earn the decision over the Cards has been Milwaukee's Lou Sleater. Last year, the Cards finished in seventh place chiefly because of the southpaw jinx. Left-handers beat them 46 times while losing only 29. Right-handers barely edged them out, 40 victories to 39.

You couldn't blame Spahn much for Monday's loss. The veteran Brave permitted only three hits before he retired for a pinch hitter in the eighth inning — none until two out in the seventh.

Then, just when the Milwaukee gathering of 6,090 — smallest since the Braves came to Milwaukee in 1953 — began thinking seriously of a no-hitter, the Cards' bats began to ring. Three successive singles by Ken Boyer, Rip Repulski and Wally Moon — and the Redbirds led 1-0. St. Louis picked up an insurance run in the ninth on Red Schoendienst's single, a sacrifice, a fielder's choice and Johnny Logan's fumble of Joe Frazier's grounder.

Three pitchers collaborated to hold the Braves runless. They were Tom Poholsky, Jackie Collum and Ellis Kinder.

The Cardinals go after their seventh victory in 10 starts to night against the greatly improved Pittsburgh Pirates. Who will they face? A left-hander, of course — Dick Littlefield. Another southpaw, Vinegar Bend Mizell, was scheduled to do the pitching for St. Louis.

Second place Brooklyn clashes with Cincinnati and will see Johnny Klippstein, who beat the Dodgers four times last season. Carl Erskine will do the honors for the Dodgers.

Philadelphia, with veteran Murrey Dickson, will invade Milwaukee in another night game. Bob Buhl is the Braves' probable starter. The only daylight game was slated for Chicago, where the Giants' Jim Hearn faces Warren Hacker of the Cubs.

The American League leading Chicago White Sox, who have played only one game in the last eight days, were hopeful of getting in some action in Baltimore this afternoon. They had Jack Harshman, a left-hander, all primed for the Orioles, who were counting on Erv Palica to register his first victory. The veteran right-hander has lost three.

The New York Yankees, a half game ahead of Chicago in the won-lost column but trailing in percentage points, were host to Detroit. Whitey Ford was all set to oppose Steve Gromek. In night games, Cleveland was at Washington and Kansas City at Boston. Early Wynn, who won his first two starts, was the Indians' choice against the Senators' Pedro Ramirez. Alex Kellner was the Athletics' pick to oppose Bob Porterfield of the Red Sox.

Teen-Age 'Game' Chilled By Police

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—Two policemen believe they have found a new "game" among youths here. In checking an auto with eight teen-age boys in it, they found a ninth inside the trunk.

The officers said the boys explained they took turns riding in the trunk and after riding a distance, the one inside had to guess where he was.

The police said that of the line, the one in the trunk was the only youth who held a driver's license.

Needles Still Solid Favorite To Win Big Derby Saturday

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Needles, a strapping bay colt, remained the solid favorite for the 82nd running of the Kentucky Derby today as 11 other 3-year-olds placed their Derby credentials on the line in the $10,000 Trial at Churchill Downs.

But win or lose Saturday in the $125,000 added mile and one-quarter test of speed and endurance, this smooth-striding son of Ponder will go down in thoroughbred history as the "character" horse of the 1956 Derby.

To begin with there is a slight disagreement over where he was bred. Floridians claim he was bred in their state, where he gained his greatest fame as winner of the Flamingo Stakes and Florida Derby last winter.

Actually, however, he was bred in Kentucky. Florida got into the picture because he was foaled there after his mammy, Noodle Soup, was moved upon being purchased by William E. Leach. Jack Dudley and Bonnie Heath of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who made their money in oil and formed the D. & H. Stable, paid Leach $20,000 for the colt shortly after his second birthday.

Probably no race horse ever did what he liked when he liked more often than the colt who is expected to be the 2-1 choice of 100,000 or more fans Saturday afternoon.

One wag even dared to suggest that Needles was training himself for the race. Trainer Hugh Fountaine doesn't disagree. He admits the colt has worked only four times since winning the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park March 24. And a blowout is all he'll get between now and Derby time.

"He doesn't like to work and makes no bones about it," said Fountaine. "He wasn't so bad as a 2-year-old but this year he has gradually been making known his feelings." Last Saturday it took the trainer half an hour to persuade his charge that he should go a mile and a quarter — the Derby distance.

"But I am not worried," said Fountaine. "As long as he wants it that way and runs like he did in Florida, who am I to force matters?"

Needles will not run in the Trial. Horses ready for the Trial are Head Man, Fabius, High King, No Regrets, Invalidee, How Blue, Roman Fan, Black Emperor, Ebony Beauty and Lover's Aid and Countermind.

John McPherson will again be in charge of the junior high events, which will take place Saturday morning at the Fairgrounds. W. C. Haney will handle the senior high competition scheduled for the afternoon.

Salt Creek is the defending champion, having won the event for the past two years in a row.

Track Meet Plans To Be Completed Later This Week

Plans for the annual Pickaway County track meet will be completed at a special session Thursday following the regular county superintendents' meeting. The gathering will be in the office of George McDowell, county superintendent of schools.

John McPherson will again be in charge of the junior high events, which will take place Saturday morning at the Fairgrounds. W. C. Haney will handle the senior high competition scheduled for the afternoon.

Lebanon Raceway Set For Meeting

LEBANON (AP)—For the sixth straight year, a spring harness meeting takes place here beginning Saturday, May 12, under the Lebanon Trotting Association banner.

Twenty-five programs are scheduled, all at night, lasting through June 9, Sundays excepted. The Lebanon spring meeting last year drew 51,289 fans and attendance last fall was 39,145.

Bowler Chalks Up 300-299-278 Score

CLEVELAND (AP)—Harry Smith, who has been bowling in Detroit, visited here yesterday and bowled an 877 series, including games of 300, 299 and 278 at Chagrin Falls Alleys.

He had a string of 23 strikes. He would have had a second 300, but left the No. 7 pin standing on the last ball of his three-game set.

Former Claimer Slated For Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—At least one former claimer will be among the starters in Saturday's $125,000 added Kentucky Derby.

He is Count Chic, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Dino Lozzi who operate a restaurant in Seattle, Wash. They claimed him as a 2-year-old at Bay Meadows, Calif., for $6,500. His best race probably was a second to Needles in Florida.

Moonshine Raid Tally Announced

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government agents swooped down on moonshiners in March to seize 1,386 liquor stills of which 1,201 were located in seven southern states.

The Internal Revenue Service said 1,086 persons were arrested. Of this number 741 were picked up in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Tennessee.

IRS agents in the Cincinnati region located 110 illegal stills in March for the second highest catch of any IRS area. This region includes Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia. There were 154 arrested.

2 Vinton Dams Seen As Cure For Pollution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A water pollution analyst has recommended that Ohio build a small dam and restore two others in Vinton County to cope with the problem of acid mine drainage, a major source of water pollution in southeastern Ohio.

Dr. S. A. Braley, of Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh, Pa., made the recommendations to representatives of the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board, the Ohio Coal Industry water pollution committee and several other state agencies.

Braley was employed by the Coal Industry Committee to make a preliminary study of the problem.

Raccoon Creek, which rises in Vinton County north of Lake Hope and flows into the Ohio River near Gallipolis, is being used for the study. A Pollution Control Board spokesman said Raccoon Creek is an example of the most severe damage from acid mine water.

Once a popular fishing stream, Raccoon Creek now is almost completely sterile, containing neither plant life nor fish.

Braley said the acid getting into Raccoon Creek comes from thousands of sources, including many mines, tipples and gob piles abandoned years ago.

"The problem will have to be attacked at the source of the acid," he said. "It seems almost hopeless, and I doubt if anybody would say that the acid can be completely eliminated. But it can be minimized if we attack some of the major sources."

Braley said the restoration of two small dams on Puritan Creek near Hamden and Lake Alma could provide a "buffer" giving some protection to the lower stream.

He also recommended flooding an abandoned mine along Ohio 278. He said this mine was discovered to yield a major source of acid flowing into Lake Hope. Flooding it would prevent air from getting in an would stop the formation of sulphuric acid, Braley indicated.

State agencies said they will study the feasibility of Braley's recommendations.

The last Legislature provided $300,000 to the Water Pollution Control Board for a study of the acid water problem.

Sokolsky's These Days

What no Russian can really understand is the complete separation of government from people in a free society. There are things that a government official must do, such as sitting down to dinner with a foreign potentate who is known to be a murderer, a lecher, and a thief.

But the butcher and baker and automobile mechanic does not need to bemoir his individuality by even smiling at the beast, much less shouting hurrah! And although, here in New York, when the Mayor orders a ticker-tape cavalcade, torn ticker-tape will be hurled from the windows, in England the worker in the factory is more likely to ask the shop steward to protest against the interference with the worker's time. The Englishman likes or dislikes as he chooses but not on government orders.

When Bim and Bom get back to the Kremlin and try to analyze what happened to them in London, they had better get other experts than Burgess and Maclean who apparently told them that they had to kiss babies to be popular. Popularity among the British is not purchased that cheaply. A tough race, with long traditions and a pride that comes from ruling the world for three centuries, they are not bought over by a kiss or even by a satisfactory trade deal. Their measure is character—and what they call cricket.

Chief Urges Family Firefighting Plans

Statewide Data Stresses Loss In Lives, Money

Make-Believe Drills Can Boost Safety; Wise Reminds All

If a serious fire broke out in your home, what would you do first?

Fire Chief Talmer Wise reminded local residents that every family should have at least some form of action planned in the event of a fire in the home.

"What you do during the first few minutes after the fire breaks out—or you discover it burning—can mean the difference between life and death for you and your loved ones," he pointed out.

Chief Wise made the comment in noting a statewide survey conducted by one of the leading insurance companies. The survey disclosed that "not one Ohio family in thousands" has any prearranged plan to meet a blaze in the home. Circleville's firefighting head said:

For a long time now we've been mighty lucky in and around Circleville, not only in the way of loss of life by fire but also in the relatively low property damage. But we all know that the averages have to even up a little bit sooner or later, and nobody can tell where fire is going to strike next—or how it may threaten the lives of local citizens.

"Warnings against fire get to be pretty common for the average individual, I know. But the figures show that many lives are saved by little precautions that a lot of people don't want to bother with."

The statewide survey revealed that the homes of more than 6,000 Ohio families were damaged or destroyed by flames last year. Fire caused nearly 300 deaths in Ohio during 1955, and home fires in the state caused more than $7 million loss.

As a routine to prepare against fire in the home, and especially in any home where there are children or aged in the family, Chief Wise suggested the following, to be revised or modified as the family feels best:

Hold a family conference. Consider the places where a fire could break out. Make a written list of what each person is to do under various conditions.

Determine who will call the fire department, how the children and aged and bedridden will be saved, who will fight the blaze while it is still small and which alternate routes can be used in case the main escape route is blocked.

Once the plan has been put on paper try it out.

Hold family fire drills often enough so each member of the fam-

Quadruplet Girls Born To Texans Reported 'Good'

DALLAS (AP)—Quadruplet girls were born to Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Hunter at Methodist Hospital late Monday night and early today.

Hospital attendants reported they "look good for their size."

The first, weighing 3 pounds, was born at 11:44 p.m. The second, weighing 2 pounds 11½ ounces was born three minutes later, the third—3 pounds 3 ounces—10 minutes later, and the fourth at 12:05 a.m. It was not weighed immediately.

All were placed in incubators. Mrs. Hunter, 23, was reported in good condition.

Hunter, 42, an aircraft worker, said he thought he would take today off.

"We were told it would be three babies," he said. "We weren't looking for four. I'm pretty excited."

The Hunters have one other child, a 14-month-old girl.

ily knows his assignment and can carry it out calmly and routinely in case the real thing comes along. Vary the location of the make-believe "fire".

Because even the best laid plans can be upset by circumstances, here is some information prepared by fire prevention engineers:

If you are trapped in a room, feel the door before opening it. If it is hot, stay put and stuff the openings and cracks to keep out deadly smoke, gases and fumes. Do not be panicked into jumping from man upper story window except as a last resort. Help may be on the way.

In trying to find your way out of a smoke filled structure, crawl on your hands and knees with your head down, because the better air is near the floor. Hold a wet towel, cloth or handkerchief over your mouth and nose. Superheated gases can sear your lungs.

Close doors behind you when retreating from a fire. Even a thin door can delay the flames to give you more time to escape.

If your clothing catches fire, don't run. You'll only fan the flames. Lie down and roll yourself in a rug or drapery to smother the flames.

Prison Farm Walkaway To Face Probe

LONDON, Ohio (AP)—Mike Glueh, 59, of Youngstown, who seven years ago walked away from the Lebanon Prison Farm, has given himself up.

Supt. R. B. Eckle of the London Prison Farm said Glueh, an honor inmate at the time of his disappearance, showed up at the London farm Monday with $1,890 in cash. Eckle said the inmate told him he had $10,000 more deposited in a Buffalo, N. Y., bank. Glueh gave no reason for walking away from the farm where he was serving a life-term for first-degree murder. He said he has worked at different jobs in upper New York State during the past few years and returned to prison so he could be deported to Yugoslavia.

In Columbus, Maury C. Koblenz, chief of the Division of Correction, State Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, said disposition of the case will depend on Glueh's activities and background during the past seven years.

Glueh entered Ohio Penitentiary Oct. 13, 1925, was transferred to London, June 30, 1941 and to Lebanon Jan. 20, 1949.

Nudist's Wife 'Driven To Drink'

Tito Plans Visit

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—President Tito will visit Russia in June at the invitation of the Soviet government. It will be his first trip to the U.S.S.R. since Yugoslavia was kicked out of the now-abandoned Cominform in 1948.

Woman Rifleman Guards Paint Job

POMONA, Calif. (AP)—When police refused to detour traffic off her unpaved street simply because she was painting her house and didn't want the dust to spoil the job, Mrs. Fern Lewis decided to establish her own detour.

Police say she took her .22 rifle Monday, stood at the intersection of Sharp Avenue and Osborne Street and persuaded motorists not to drive on Sharp Avenue.

Officers said her roadblock was 100 per cent effective. They booked the 42-year-old woman on a charge of displaying a firearm in a threatening manner.

Fire Damages 4 Van Wert Buildings

VAN WERT (AP)—Fire and smoke caused at least $50,000 damage to four downtown Van Wert buildings yesterday.

Two firemen were injured fighting the blaze which apparently started in the basement of a tavern after a series of explosions.

Fire Chief Robert Cryer is investigating cause of the fire.

Detroit Police Add Skin Divers

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Police Department is recruiting 25 skin divers. Recruits will be formed into a new "frogman" unit to help the Harbormaster's Bureau in Detroit River and Lake St. Clair searches. They'll look for drowning victims, investigate sunken cars and trace underwater crime clues.
